PREFACE

Reading is the cornerstone of learning, yet it remains one of the most pressing challenges in education today. In response, the Division of Bukidnon proudly introduces Bukidnon's Unified Literacy and Intervention Gateway (BULIG) — a transformative innovation designed to improve learners' reading ability and empower every child to succeed.

BULIG is more than a program; it is a unified movement for literacy, built on collaboration, evidence-based strategies, and a deep commitment to equity in education. This initiative bridges gaps in reading proficiency by providing targeted interventions, innovative approaches, and sustainable support systems that cater to the diverse needs of learners across the division.

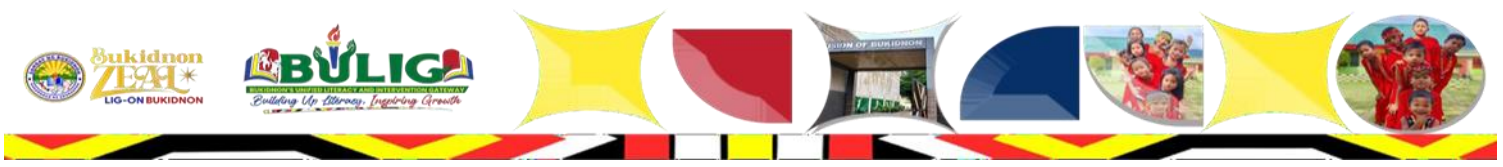

Anchored on this vision, the Division of Bukidnon integrates the ARAL Program (Academic Recovery and Accessible Learning), a national initiative focused on learning recovery and remediation. ARAL provides structured and learner-centered interventions for those struggling with foundational skills in reading and numeracy. By complementing BULIG's mission, ARAL strengthens the division's comprehensive approach to literacy, ensuring that learners overcome difficulties and gain the confidence to succeed academically. Together, these programs create a powerful synergy that accelerates learning recovery and builds a strong foundation for lifelong learning.

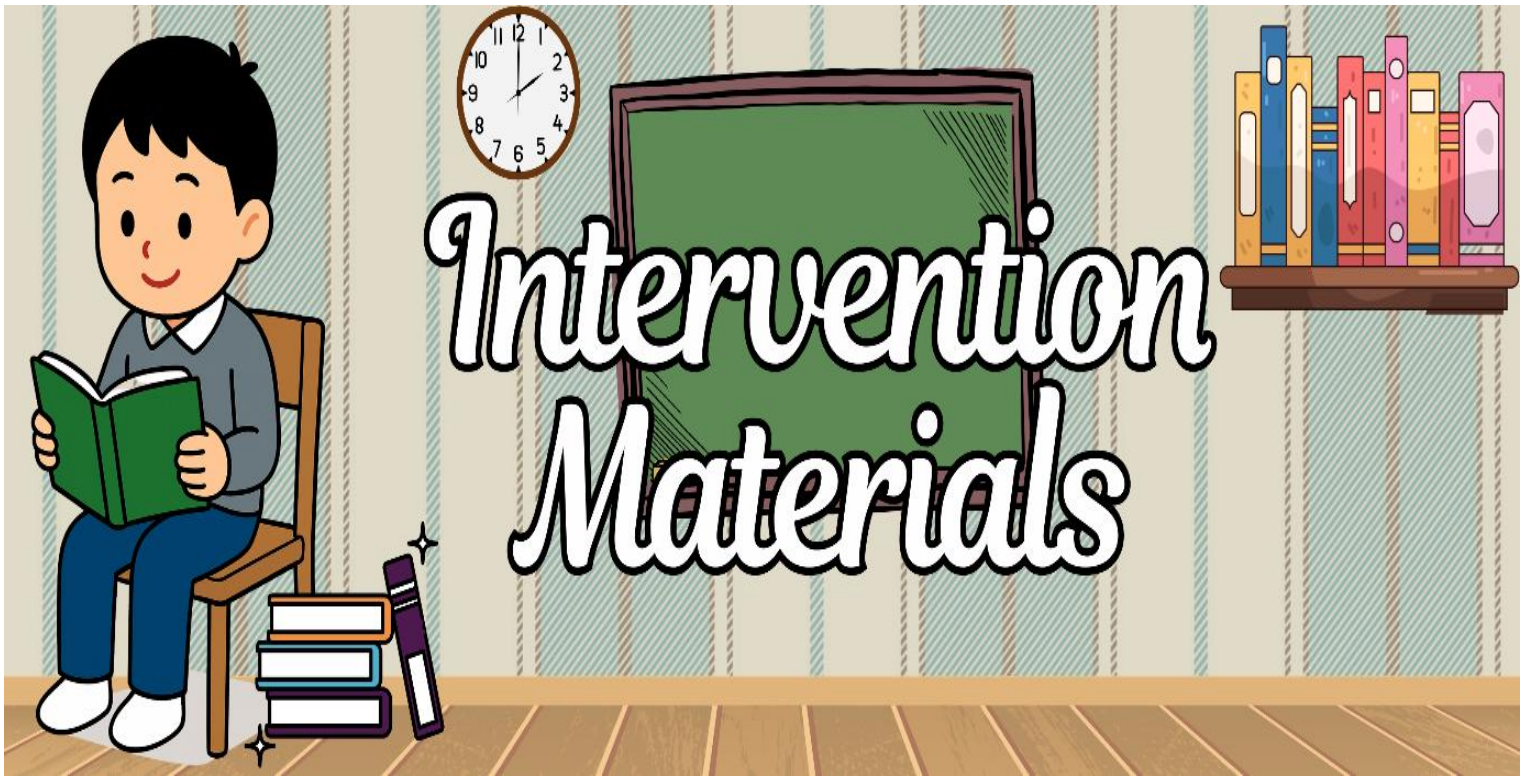

Through BULIG, we envision classrooms where every learner reads with confidence, comprehends with clarity, and learns with purpose. This gateway opens opportunities for lifelong learning, ensuring that no child is left behind in the journey toward academic excellence and personal growth.

Together, let us make literacy not just a goal, but a reality for all.

Activity 1

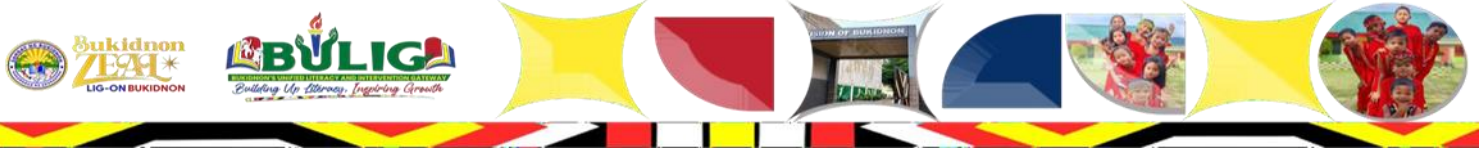

Write a news article based on the following facts which are given at random:

- The incident happened shortly after midnight yesterday.
- unidentified men sprayed the casualties with bullets.
- two men died in the said incident. Another was seriously wounded.
- The unidentified men were in a sport utility vehicle.
- A service crew of a fast-food chain named Sonny Cagaoan was declared dead on arrival at the Mary Johnston Hospital. He is 22 years old.
- Cagaoan died due to gunshot wounds in the head and body.
- Investigation showed that the victims were having a drinking spree in front of a house along Panday Pira Street. Here, the suspects in a dark blue Mitsubishi Pajero repeatedly shot at the group. Afterwards, they drove away.

- The car's plate number is ERY-929.
- Danilo Fajardo- the companion of the two. He is 19 years old and is under observation at the Jose Reyes Memorial Medical Center for gunshot wounds in the arm and foot.
- Chief Inspector Alberto Peco – head of the Homicide Section of the Manila Police District. According to him, revenge could be the motive for the attack.
- Another who also succumbed to gunshot wounds in the head is Mar Jerkin Tan. Tan is 24 years old and a maintenance crew of the Ninoy Aquino Int'l Airport.
- The suspects were backed up by unidentified men on board another sports utility vehicle resembling an Isuzu Crosswind.
- Police are verifying the identities of the owners of the vehicles used in the shooting.
- Peco said his follow-up team failed to find Quan and the rest of his gang at their residences.
- Peco gathered from the witnesses that several days ago, Tan and his group figured in a fight with five residents of the nearby Dandan Street resulting in injuries. The injured here are the cousins Francis Quan and Edward Basilio.

Activity 2

Write a news article based on the following facts which are given at random.

➢ Roxana Saberi – US –Iranian journalist. She was sentenced to eight years in jail by an Iranian revolutionary court. This was according to Saberi's lawyer.

➢ Saberi was charged with spying for the United States.

➢ Saberi is 31 years old. She has been detained in Tehran's notorious Evin Prison since January.

➢ The verdict was the harshest sentence ever meted out to a dual national on security charges.

➢ Abdulsamad Koramshahi – Saberi's lawyer. According to him, Saberi has been sentenced to eight years in jail, and he's going to appeal, because according to Iranian law the verdict can be appealed within 20 days.

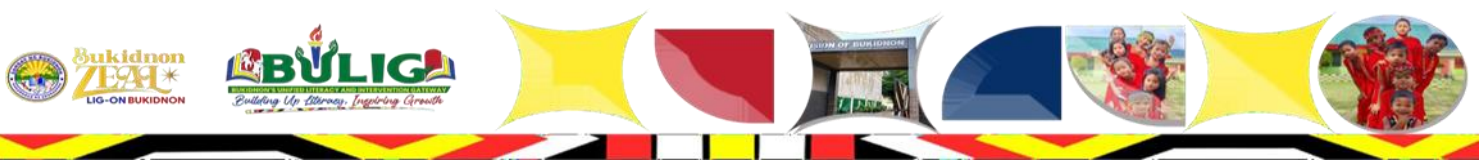

➢ Saberi's father was greeted with shock and said that her daughter had been "tricked" into confessing. She was initially reported to have been detained for buying alcohol, an illegal act in the Islamic Republic.

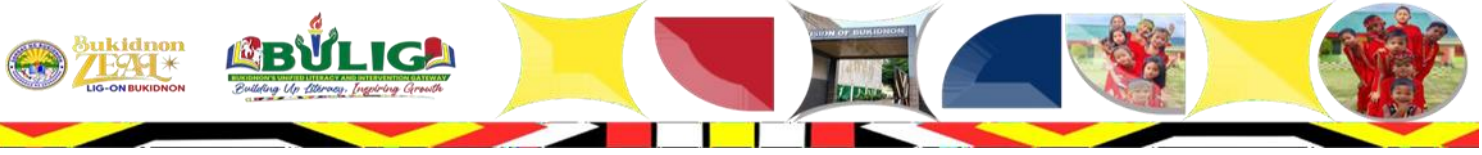

➢ Saberi went on trial behind closed doors on Monday accused of spying for the US.

➢ The case against Saberi has raised deep concerns in Washington and among the right groups.

➢ According to ISNA news agency, as it quotes unnamed judiciary source- a revolutionary court had sentenced Saberi for espionage – a charge that could have risked the death sentence.

➢ Hillary R. Clinton- US Secretary of State. She was deeply disappointed over the sentence. She also said that Washington would "vigorously raise" its concerns with Tehran. No date yet has been given to the verdict.

Activity 3

Write a news article based on the following facts given at random.

➢ Senior Police Officer 1 Ferdinand Geres- is a member of the Gubat town police.

➢ He was shot dead early Sunday morning. This was according to Chief Inspector Ayn Natuel who is the Spokesperson of the Bicol police. Natuel relayed the news of the killing in a text message Sunday.

➢ The killing took place in Gubat town which is in Sorsogon. Responding town police operatives collared one of the gunmen. Thus, happened when the said gunman was hiding near the scene of the crime. A Philippine National Police officer said this.

➢ Robinson Huete – name of the gunman. A resident of Barangay Bulacao, in Gubat. He was arrested by police operatives and was tagged as one of the gunmen that shot Geres.

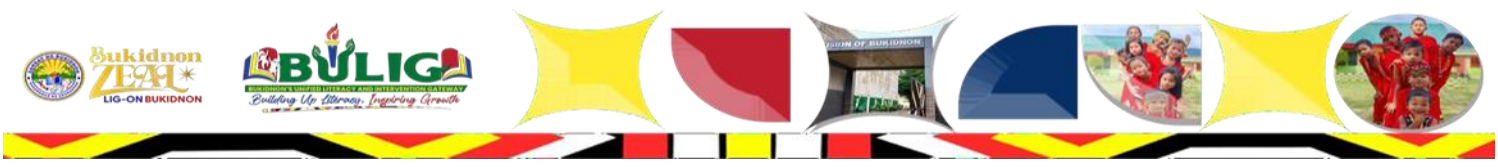

➢ 2:30 a.m. Sunday – the shooting took place. This happened when Geres was about to board his tricycle along Manotok street-in Gubat town.

➢ Natuel could not say if the crime was related to insurgency or ordinary crime.

➢ The arrested suspect has been detained at the town jail.

➢ He is also undergoing interrogation.

➢ Several armed men fired Geres at close range. He was killed instantly.

Activity 4

Topic: Should students be required to join at least one school club?
Instructions:
Write a short editorial (3–4 sentences) expressing your opinion.

- Clearly state whether you agree or disagree with having a longer recess.
- Give one strong reason to support your view.
- End with a simple persuasive statement.

Example;

I think students should join at least one school club. Clubs help students make friends and learn new skills. For example, a student who joins a science club can discover more about experiments. Joining a club is fun and helps students grow, so every student should try it.

Editorial Writing Activities

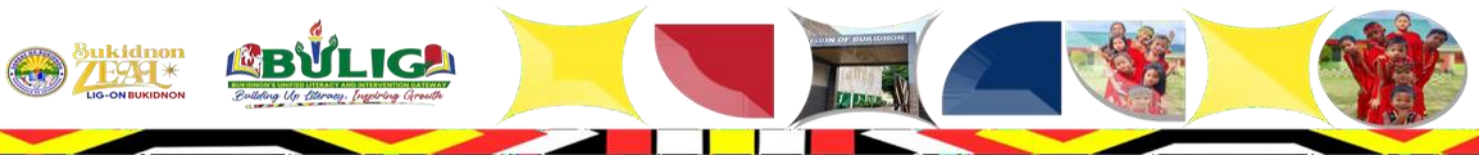

Activity 5

Write one paragraph.

- Begin with your clear opinion.
- Provide two reasons supporting your viewpoint.
- Suggest one possible benefit of joining clubs.
- Finish with a convincing closing line encouraging readers to agree with you.

Example;

I believe students should be required to join at least one school club. Being part of a club helps students make friends, learn teamwork, and discover new talents. For example, a student in a music club can improve their singing or instrument skills while meeting others with the same interest. Clubs also make school life more enjoyable and give students a sense of belonging. Schools should encourage all students to participate in at least one club to help them grow socially and academically.

Activity 6

Write a two-paragraph editorial.
Paragraph 1:

- Present your stance on using digital devices instead of textbooks.
- Explain one advantage and one disadvantage of using technology for learning.

Paragraph 2:

- Choose which is more important (the advantage or the disadvantage) and explain why.
- Add an example or simple evidence to support your argument.
- End with a strong, persuasive call to action.

Example;

Students should be required to join at least one school club because clubs provide opportunities to learn, socialize, and develop important skills. For example, students in a debate club can improve their public speaking and critical thinking, while students in a sports club learn teamwork and discipline. Clubs allow students to explore their interests beyond the classroom, making their school experience more meaningful.

Some may argue that students already have busy schedules with homework and exams, but joining a club does not need to take too much time. Schools can offer flexible club schedules so students can balance academics and activities. Overall, requiring students to join at least one club helps them grow personally, academically, and socially, preparing them for the future.

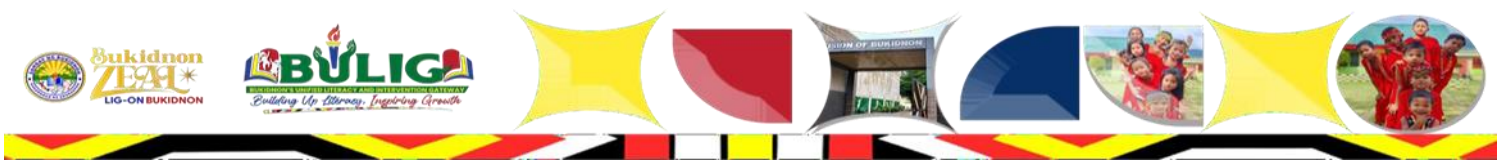

Activity 7

Write a short news article about a recent sports game (real or imaginary).

Instructions:

- Choose a sport (basketball, volleyball, soccer, etc.).
- Imagine a game between two teams.
- Include:
    - Headline (catchy title)
    - Who played
    - What happened
    - When & where the game took place
    - Final score
    - A short quote from a player or coach (you can make it up)

Length: 2–3 paragraphs (about 150–200 words)

Activity 8

Write a personal narrative about a time you played a sport or physical game.

Instructions:

- It can be:
  - A PE class
  - A school sports day
  - Playing with friends or family
- Include:
  - How you felt before, during, and after
  - A problem or challenge (nerves, losing, making a mistake, etc.)
  - How you solved or dealt with it
- Use descriptive language (what you saw, heard, felt).

Length: 3–4 paragraphs (about 200–250 words)

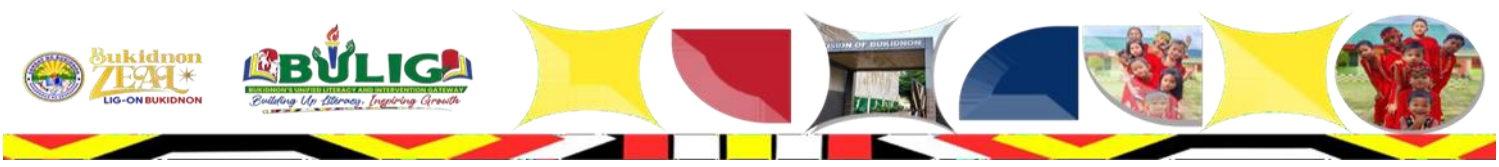

Activity 9

Write an opinion paragraph explaining what you think is the best sport and why.

Instructions:

- Start with a topic sentence (your opinion).
    - Example: "I think basketball is the best sport for teenagers."
- Give 3 reasons to support your opinion
  (e.g., keeps you fit, builds teamwork, fun to watch and play).
- Add examples for each reason.
- End with a concluding sentence.

Length: 1–2 paragraphs (about 120–150 words)

STUDENT INVENTORS

Three senior high school students developed a low-cost mobile app that detects early signs of dengue outbreaks using location-based reports and temperature data.

A. Write Your Headline (6–10 words only):

B. Write Your Lead (1–2 sentences only):

C. Why is it important for journalists to write clear and accurate headlines and leads in science and technology news?

Activity 14

I. Background of the Task

You are a student journalist assigned to write a technology news article. Your task is to develop the context and main body content of the story based on the information below:

News Scenario:

Three senior high school students developed a low-cost mobile app that detects early signs of dengue outbreaks using location-based reports and temperature data.

II. Review: What Is Context in News Writing?

Context provides background information that helps the reader understand:

- Why the news matters
- What problem it addresses
- The current situation related to the issue

III. Review: What Is the Main Body of a News Article?

The main body expands the story by adding:

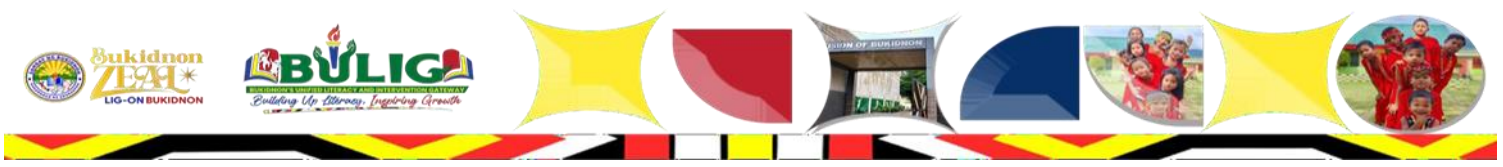

- Important details
- Quotes (real or simulated)
- Effects or implications
- Supporting data or explanations

IV. Activity Instructions

Using the news scenario above, complete the tasks below:

A. Write the Context Paragraph

Explain the background of the dengue issue and why a detection app is important. (3–4 sentences)

Your Answer:

B. Write the Main Body Paragraph

Add more details about the app, how it works, who created it, and its possible impact. You may include invented quotes to enrich the story. (4–6 sentences)

Your Answer:

V. Reflection Question

How can technology created by students contribute to solving real community problems?

Activity 15

I. Write 3–4 sentences that give additional details about the app, dengue data, student motivations, or expert opinions.

Your Answer:

II. Write the Conclusion Paragraph

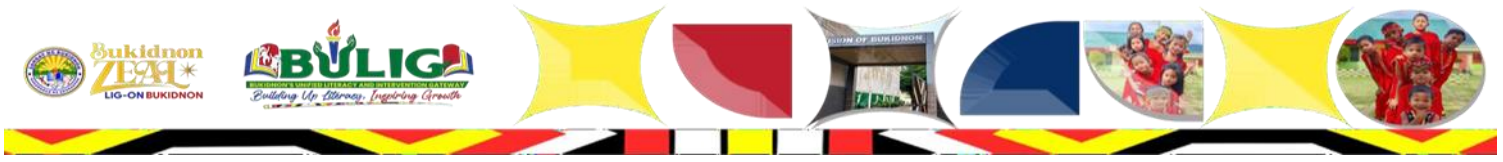

Write 2–3 sentences explaining the significance of the students' innovation and its potential impact on the community or the future.

Your Answer:

III. Reflection How does supporting information make a news article more reliable and informative?

Activity 16

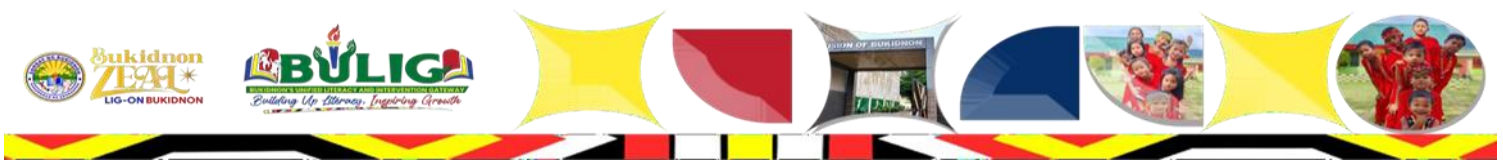

Instructions:

1. Pick someone in our school whose daily work you don't fully know — it could be a janitor, cafeteria staff, security guard, teacher, or any support person.
2. Write at least 6 good questions to interview them. For example:
    - What does a typical workday look like for you here?
    - What part of your job do most students not see?
    - What is something you are proud to have done at this school?
    - What challenges do you face?
    - How did you come to work here?
    - What advice would you give to students?
3. Arrange and conduct a short interview. Be polite, introduce yourself ("Hi, I'm [Your Name]. I'm writing a feature for class."), and take notes. If they agree, you can record the conversation.
4. Use a graphic organizer (or bullet-point notes) to plan your feature:
    - Think about how you will hook your reader (start with a quote, story, or interesting fact)
    - List key details you want to include (their routines, quotes, anecdotes)
    - Plan a closing / reflection: why does their story matter?
5. Write a 4-paragraph feature article:
    - Paragraph 1 (Lead): Begin with something engaging — a scene, quote, or anecdote.
    - Paragraphs 2–3 (Body): Describe their daily life, their challenges, and what makes them special, using quotes.
    - Paragraph 4 (Conclusion): Reflect on why their story is important to the school community.

Example:

Title: A Day in the Life of Mrs. Gomez, Our Cafeteria Manager

Mrs. Gomez unlocks the cafeteria door at 6:30 a.m., long before most of the students arrive. She pushes a heavy cart filled with trays, cleaning supplies, and fresh bread. “I always like to start early,” she says, smiling. “I want everything to be ready when the kids come in.”

By 7:00, she’s already busy: setting up breakfast stations, warming up the ovens, and arranging milk cartons. She hums softly as she works, greeting the first students with a friendly “Good morning!” She knows many of them by name and asks how their morning is going or what they think of the new menu.

During lunch, Mrs. Gomez doesn’t just serve food — she listens. A student once told her they didn’t like any sandwiches, so she helped make a special salad just for them. “If I can make someone happy with food, then I feel like I’ve done something good,” she says. She also keeps an eye on the younger kids, making sure they can reach drinks, and helping them open lids when they need it.

As afternoon classes begin, she starts cleaning — stacking trays, washing dishes, and sweeping crumbs off the floor. “I don’t just work here to feed students,” she explains. “I work here because I care.” When the cafeteria is quiet again, she takes a moment to look at a small bulletin board where students write thank-you notes. “These reminders make every early morning worth it,” she says.

Activity 17

Instructions:

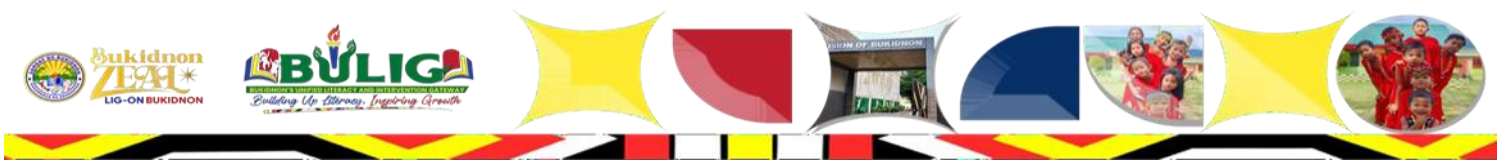

1. Walk around the school or think of places in the school that many people might not notice: a quiet stairwell, a small garden, a forgotten hallway, a storage room, or a maintenance shed.
2. Spend 5–10 minutes observing your chosen place. Write down:
    - What you see, hear, smell, and feel.
    - Who uses the place and for what?
    - Why this place might be "hidden" or overlooked.
3. Interview at least one person who knows the place (teacher, staff, or student):
    - Ask about memories connected to the place.
    - Ask why they go there and what it means to them.
    - Ask how the place has changed over time (if it has).
4. Plan your feature: Use a simple organizer to decide your hook, main observations / quotes, and ending.
5. Write a 3-paragraph article:
    - Paragraph 1: Describe the place vividly (sensory details, setting).
    - Paragraph 2: Include the interview and what people say about the place.
    - Paragraph 3: Explain why this place matters or what it represents.

Sample:

Title: The Quiet Corner by the Art Room

Just outside the art room, hidden behind tall easels and paint-splattered drop cloths, lies a narrow hallway nook. It's not a place many students pay attention to — but if you pause there, you'll notice it's special. The walls are lined with colorful sketches and half-finished canvases. There's a small wooden stool where a few students leave their headphones while they paint or draw.

When I visited, I heard the soft scrape of charcoal against paper and the steady breathing of someone sketching. The air smelled like turpentine and resh clay. I saw a few pencil shavings on the floor, and bits of pastel powder dusted on a nearby shelf.

Ms. Rivera, the art teacher, told me that students sometimes come here during lunch just to think or make art quietly. “Some of them feel overwhelmed in class, so this corner gives them space,” she said. She remembered a student who sat here for a whole lunchtime working on a self-portrait.

To her, this spot is more than just an empty hallway—it’s a retreat. “It’s where creativity happens without pressure,” she explained. Even though it's tucked away, that little corner holds the heart of many students’ artistic moments.

Activity 18

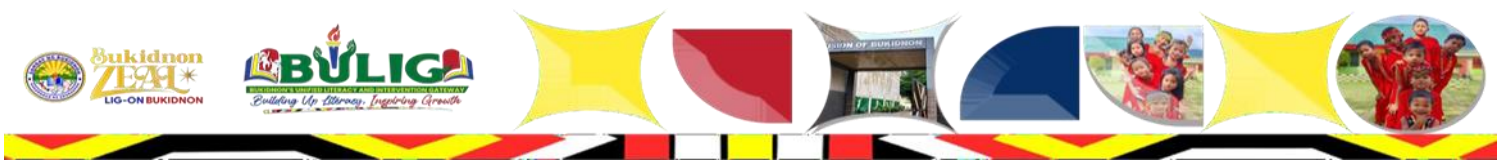

Instructions:

1. Choose an object in our school (or from home) that has meaning: maybe a trophy, an old piece of equipment, a piece of art, a forgotten musical instrument, or something in the staff room.
2. Research or interview someone about the object:
    - Where did it come from?
    - Who used it?
    - What stories or memories are connected to it?
    - Why is it still kept here?
3. Examine the object closely: note its color, shape, texture, any marks, age-wear, etc.
4. Use a planning sheet or graphic organizer to map out:
    - A hook (how you will start your story)
    - The history / background
    - Personal stories / quotes surrounding the object
    - A meaningful conclusion
5. Write a feature-style narrative (3 paragraphs):
    - Paragraph 1: Describe the object in detail so that readers can "see" it.
    - Paragraph 2: Tell the history or the stories linked to it, using interview quotes.
    - Paragraph 3: Reflect on why this object matters — for the school, for people, for memory.
6. Revise and add a title (e.g., "The Trophy No One Talks About").
7. If possible, take a photo or draw the object and include it with your article.

Example:

Title: The Old School Bell That Never Rung

In the back storage room, tucked away on a dusty wooden shelf, sits a large, round brass bell. It's dulled from years of neglect, and the once-shiny surface is covered in patches of dark green tarnish. The label reads: "School Bell — Class of 1978." No longer hung in the hallway or rung during assemblies, it feels like a forgotten piece of school history.

Mr. Delacruz, a retired teacher, remembers when the bell used to ring. "Every Monday morning," he recalled, "a student would pull the rope to call everyone together for the weekly assembly." He smiled as he told me how students used to joke about ringing the bell just to skip class — but no one ever dared.

Over time, the school built a new PA system, and the bell stopped being used. But alumni still ask about it when they come back. Some touch the brass gently, others snap photos. "It's more than just a bell," said Mr. Delacruz. "It's a symbol of our school's past — of days when things were simpler."

Now, the bell stays silent, but it continues to have meaning. For former and current students, it reminds them of generations who walked these halls, of their shared memories, and of the passage of time.

Activity 19

Activity 1. Identify the parts of column writing

Headline	Body	Opinion
Conclusion	Introduction

_____1. In conclusion, introducing mindfulness exercises at school is a simple yet effective way to support students' mental health and learning. Even a few minutes each day can have lasting positive effects on their overall well-being.

_____2. Mindfulness is the practice of being fully aware of the present moment and noticing thoughts, feelings, and surroundings without judgment. Studies show it can reduce stress, enhance focus, and help students cope with the demands of school life.

_____3. Mindfulness in Schools: Improving Focus and Well-Being.

_____4. Students who practice mindfulness techniques such as deep breathing, meditation, or journaling report lower stress levels and increased concentration. Teachers observe improved behavior, more participation in class, and a calmer classroom atmosphere. Mindfulness also encourages emotional awareness and empathy, which strengthens relationships with peers.

_____5. I believe all students should incorporate mindfulness into their daily routines because it promotes calmness, mental clarity, and better focus. Developing this skill early can improve both emotional well-being and academic performance.

Activity 20

Arrange the sentences in the proper order and rewrite them clearly.

I believe students should join recycling programs because it builds responsibility and awareness of environmental issues. Practicing these habits at school encourages care for the planet and community.

Recycling turns waste into reusable materials, helping reduce pollution and protect the environment. Schools teach students to separate plastics, paper, and metals, giving them skills that go beyond the classroom.

In conclusion, recycling in schools is more than sorting waste—it develops responsibility, teamwork, and care for the environment. Students who participate can make a real difference at school and beyond.

The Importance of Recycling in Schools

Many schools set up recycling bins, hold competitions, and run workshops to promote awareness. Recycling also teaches teamwork and sustainability, showing students that their actions can positively affect their surroundings.

Activity 21

Instructions: Write a short column or article (5–6 sentences) about "Participating in School Clubs". Then label:

- Headline
- Introduction
- Body
- Conclusion

Activity 22

"Citizens Protest Over Corruption in Flood-Control Projects"

In 2025, many Filipinos are deeply worried about corruption in the government. Reports have emerged that billions of pesos meant for flood-control infrastructure — projects to prevent flooding — may have been misused. Wikipedia+2The Diplomat+2

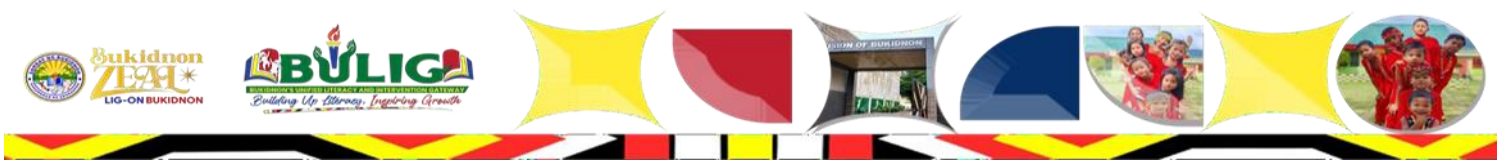

Some of these projects are allegedly "ghost" projects — meaning the money was spent, but the actual construction was never finished or was done very poorly. Wikipedia Because of this, many people think these mismanaged flood-control systems make flooding worse instead of better. Wikipedia

Public dissatisfaction grew, and on September 21, 2025, a huge number of people protested in Luneta Park (Manila) and other cities. This protest is called the "Trillion Peso March", and it demands transparency, accountability, and changes in how government funds are handled. Wikipedia+2Wikipedia+2

The protests reflect a growing concern: corruption is now one of the top issues for Filipinos, according to recent surveys. BusinessMirror+2Philstar+2 Business groups have also joined the calls for reform, saying that corruption hurts ordinary people and weakens institutions. The Diplomat

Draw a cartoon that captures the mass protest during the "Trillion Peso March." They should highlight:

- People united in protest (students, church groups, citizens)
- Signs or placards (e.g., "Transparency," "Stop Corruption," "Where's the Flood Money?")
- A river or flood scene in the background, symbolizing the flood-control projects under fire
- A building labeled "Government / DPWH / Congress" to symbolize the authorities being held accountable

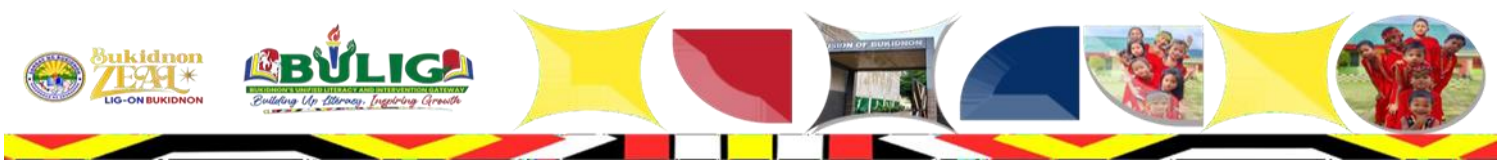

Activity 23

Imagine what will happen in the future if corruption in flood-control projects is not fixed. In a cartoon:

- Show a future city flooded because flood-control systems failed (e.g., a broken dyke, collapsed barriers)
- Include citizens wading in water, or houses submerged
- Add exaggerated metaphorical elements: e.g., a corrupt official sitting on a pile of money while water rises, or a ghost-like blueprint of flood infrastructure (representing "ghost projects")

Discussion Questions:

- What scientific / engineering failures might happen if infrastructure is poorly built?
- How would people's lives change?
- What message do you want to warn the public about?

Activity 24

Design a cartoon that shows a positive, transparent, and effective solution to the flood-control problem. They should use their imagination and STEM thinking:

- Maybe a "Transparent Commission" (a group of engineers + citizens) overseeing flood-control contracts
- A "Smart Flood Device" that uses sensors and water-level data to allocate funds wisely
- A public ledger or "budget book" open in front of people, showing exactly where money goes

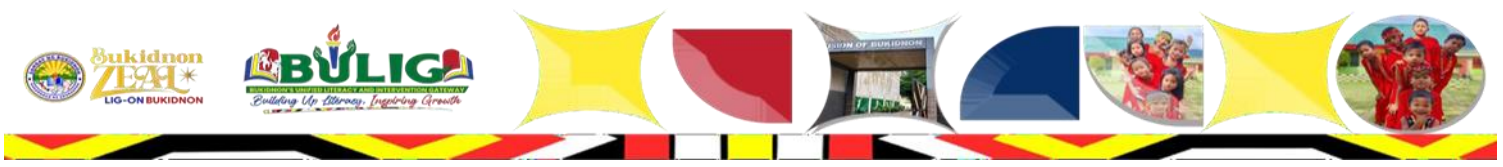

Reflection Questions:

1. Why is corruption in infrastructure especially dangerous in a country prone to flooding?

2. How can ordinary citizens (students, community members) use science, technology, and advocacy to demand better infrastructure?

3. What role do transparency and accountability play in engineering projects?

4. How would a well-engineered flood control system benefit everyone (not just the rich or powerful)?

Activity 25

Instructions: Write a two or three-sentence greeting that a radio host says at the start of a show.

Example:

"Good morning! You're tuned in to The Voice News Radio, bringing you today's top stories. Stay with us for the latest updates from around the world and your community."

Activity 26

Instructions: Write a short weather update for your city or a made-up place. Include the following information below:

- Greeting
- Today's weather
- Temperature
- A simple forecast (e.g. "Sunny this afternoon", "cloudy skies")
- Advice for listeners (e.g. "Don't forget your jacket!")

Example:

"Good day! Today will be sunny with a high temperature of 28 degrees. Expect cooler winds this evening. Bring a hat if you're going outside."

Activity 27

Instructions: Think of any school event and write a brief news script about a specific school event (contests, sports game, club activity, or announcement).

Example:

"The Grade 8 Science Quiz Bee will be held this Friday at 2 p.m. in the library. All participants should arrive early. Teachers encourage everyone to join and show support."
