PREFACE

Reading is the cornerstone of learning, yet it remains one of the most pressing challenges in education today. In response, the Division of Bukidnon proudly introduces Bukidnon's Unified Literacy and Intervention Gateway (BULIG) — a transformative innovation designed to improve learners' reading ability and empower every child to succeed.

BULIG is more than a program; it is a unified movement for literacy, built on collaboration, evidence-based strategies, and a deep commitment to equity in education. This initiative bridges gaps in reading proficiency by providing targeted interventions, innovative approaches, and sustainable support systems that cater to the diverse needs of learners across the division.

Through BULIG, we envision classrooms where every learner reads with confidence, comprehends with clarity, and learns with purpose. This gateway opens opportunities for life-long learning, ensuring that no child is left behind in the journey toward academic excellence and personal growth.

Together, let us make literacy not just a goal, but a reality for all.

a. Marking and Scoring the Miscues

When administering the Fluency Passages, both the teacher and the student need to have a copy of the passage to be read by the student. While the student is reading a passage orally, the teacher records every miscue committed. The guide in marking and scoring the miscues is shown in Table 1.

Table 1. Marking and Scoring the Oral Reading Miscues

Types of Miscues	Marking the Miscue	Example	Scoring
Mispronunciation	Underline the text and write the phonetic spelling above it.	sleed slide	Count as 1 error every mispronunciation. (The dialectal variation should not be counted as an error).
Omission	Circle the omitted unit of a language.	The huge elephant	Count as one error a word or a phrase omitted.
Substitution	Underline the text and write the substituted word above it.	money monkey	Count as one error every substitution.
Insertion	Use a caret to show where the word/s was inserted and write the word above the caret.	lovely the^ flowers in the vase	Count a word or a phrase inserted as one error.
Repetition	Underline the portion of the text that was repeated.	They found it in the	Count as one error every word or phrase repeated.
Transposition	Use a transpositional symbol over and under the letters or words transposed.	The girl is pret	Count as one error every transposition made.
Reversal	Write the word/nonword above the correct word.	dab bad	Count as one error every reversal made.
Self -Correction	Write S above the word that was self- corrected.	S hasn't	Don't count self-correction as an error.

b. Recording the Miscues

The summary of the miscues made are recorded on Table 9 (See Appendix D, Phil IRI Form 4).

Table 5. Summary of Miscues

c. Computing the Oral Reading Score per Passage

The computation of the oral reading score involves counting the number of miscues during oral reading. Each miscue carries equal weight, regardless of whether it affects the meaning of the passage or not. Pedro's oral reading illustrates a sample computation of miscues.

Oral Reading Score: $\frac{\text{the number of words} - \text{number of miscues}}{\text{number of words}} \times 100$

Example: Pedro's Performance in Oral Reading

No. of words in the passage:

65 No. of miscues:

$$\frac{65 - 15}{65} \times 100 = 76.9\%$$

Pedro's rating in oral reading is 76.9%

d. Recording the Speed and Rate in Oral Reading

The teacher-administrator records the time that the student starts reading the passage orally; s/he computes the number of seconds/minutes that it took the student to read the passage.

Pedro was asked to read the passage “The Snail with the Biggest House,” a Grade 5 Pre-test passage which has 103 words. It took him 1.5 minutes (90 seconds) to read the passage. Dividing 103 words by 90 seconds will yield 69; thus, Pedro's reading rate is 69 words per minute.

$$\text{Reading speed} = \frac{\text{No. of words read}}{\text{Reading time in seconds}} \times 60$$

No. of words in the passage: 103

No. of minutes it took Karlo to read it: 1.5mins. (90 seconds)

$$\frac{103 \text{ words read}}{90 \text{ seconds}} = 60 \text{ words per minute}$$

Pedro's reading rate: 69 words per minute

The Ant and the Fly

Aesop Fable

Once, an Ant and a Fly were fighting over who was more important. The Fly said, "Ant! What do you think you are? How can you even think about comparing yourself to me? Look at me! You have to work hard but I pass my time with the rich and the learned. I fly into the temples and taste the offerings. I can sit on the King's crown and kiss the Queen's forehead. I do not work, yet have the best life!" The Ant replied, "Don't be so proud! You are always hated when you enter the temples. You are driven away as soon as you sit on the King's crown or the Queen's forehead. You do not have anything left for the difficult times as you are lazy. In winters, you feed yourself on a pile of cow dung. Look at me! I work hard and gather a store of grain for the winter. Later on, when you shiver in the cold, I am safe and at peace in my cozy home. I am prepared to live in any season of the year."

Look at your own faults, before finding faults in others.

Max's Good Habit

Henry Joyce

Max reads more than anyone he knows. He loves to read during all of his free time. His friends tease him because he would rather read than play video games, but his parents and his teachers are proud of him. They say reading is important, and it will help him learn about the world around him. They also tell him it is a good habit to read on a regular basis. One day Max was reading a magazine article about volcanoes. He told his friends all about volcanoes and what causes them to erupt. The very next week, his his class was assigned a science project about volcanoes. Guess who everyone wanted in their project group? Max's friends weren't teasing him anymore. Max ended up being in a group with Liz, Anna and Josh. The assignment was to create a poster board with information about volcanoes and to build a volcano model. Max made copies of the magazine article about volcanoes so his project partners could read about them too. They also went to the library to look for more information about volcanoes. The group met at Anna's house that night to organize the information and decide what they wanted to put on the poster board.

https://img.freepik.com/free-vector/scene-with-green-grass-river_1308-106501.jpg?w=2000

They all asked Max what he thought was most important. Then they decided on the following together. Max reads more than anyone he knows. What causes volcanoes to erupt? The release of pressure when mag-ma rises up through cracks in the Earth's crust causes volcanoes to erupt. How do volcanoes form? Lava from eruptions cools and forms new crust. The crust builds up after several eruptions to form a volcano. How hot is lava? Lava can get as hot as 1,165 Fahrenheit. The next night they met at Josh's house to build their volcano.

They used cardboard and modeling clay. First, they made a volcano shape with the cardboard, and then they covered the shape in brown and red clay. The red was lava flowing down the volcano. They also attached red clay to the top of the volcano to make it look like it was erupting. The volcano looked great. Max, Liz, Anna and Josh were very proud of their hard work. When they turned in their project, their teacher was proud too. Thanks to Max's good habit, they earned an A+ on both parts of the project.

Amusement Park Problem

The smell of popcorn was in the air. I could hear kids laughing and screaming. People were everywhere! The breeze felt warm on my skin. It was a perfect day at the amusement park. My family and I wandered around the park, getting snacks and going on rides. I loved almost all types of rides! I loved to go fast and to spin around, to go down hills and to get splashed. The only rides I didn't like were rides that turn you upside-down. My little brother, Ben, didn't like those either, but my older sister, Laura, loved them. When we finally were near a ride that went upside-down, she started asking me to go with her. I told her I don't like those rides, but she kept asking.

Then she started whining because she didn't want to go alone. I was feeling sympathy for her, so I started thinking that maybe I should go with her, even though I really don't like to go upside-down. I looked to my parents for help.

"Matt, you are allowed to stand up for yourself. If something makes you feel really uncomfortable, you can tell people 'no.' It's OK to tell Laura that you love her, but that you can't go with her because going upside-down makes you uncomfortable. Be strong but kind when you tell her, so that she knows you're serious," Mom said. "I don't want to make Laura mad or sad, though," I replied to Mom, "and I don't want her to think I'm being mean." "There's a difference between being aggressive and being assertive. You're not saying 'no' to be mean to Laura or to hurt her feelings, you're just listening to your own feelings to make sure you stay safe. It's fine to tell her no for this," Mom answered. "The same goes for Laura. If you ask her to arm wrestle and she doesn't feel comfortable, she's allowed to say 'no,' too. We are all allowed to stand up for ourselves to make sure we stay safe. Does that make sense?" "Yes, thanks Mom," I said. I told Laura that I love her and like to do things with her, but that I wasn't comfortable going on upside-down rides today because they scare me. She was sad, but went on the ride by herself and was really happy when it was over. We had a great rest of the day at the amusement park!

The Generosity of Rantideva

https://kathakids.com/static/story-images/2020/01/KK_01-scaled.jpg

Rantideva was born in a rich family. Even as a child, he would share his riches with the needy. He got married and had sons. With no thought for the future, Rantideva and his wife continued to be generous. No one went away from their home empty-handed. Ultimately, Rantideva ran out of money. His family had to go without food for months.

One day, Rantideva managed to get some rice, ghee, wheat and sugar. Just then a holy man knocked at their door. Rantideva received the guest by bowing to him and served food to him. The holy man went away satisfied. Half of the food was still left for Rantideva and his family. As they sat down to eat, a hungry farmer came looking for food. Rantideva offered him a seat, made him comfortable, and served him food. The farmer enjoyed his meal. There was still some food left. Rantideva's family decided to share whatever had remained. As they sat down to eat, a traveler appeared at the door.

"I am"

John Clare - 1793-1864

https://m.media-amazon.com/images/I/81rj6w4KABL_AC_US218_.jpg

I am! yet
what I am none cares or knows;
My friends forsake me like a
memory lost;
I am the self-consumer of my
woes,
They rise and vanish in oblivious
host,
Like shades in love and death's
oblivion lost;
And yet I am! and live with
shadows toast
Into the nothingness of scorn and noise,
Into the living sea of waking
dreams,

Where there is neither sense of
life nor joys,
But the vast shipwreck of my
life's esteems;
And e'en the dearest—that I loved the best—
Are strange—nay, rather stranger than the rest.
I long for scenes where man has
never trod;
A place where woman never
smil'd or wept;
There to abide with my creator,
God,
And sleep as I in childhood
sweetly slept:
Untroubling and untroubled
where I lie;
The grass below—above the vaulted sky.

Daisies

by Frank Dempster Sherman

At evening when I go to bed
I see the stars shine overhead;
They are the little daisies white
That dot the meadow of the Night.

And often while I'm dreaming so,
Across the sky the Moon will go;
It is a lady, sweet and fair,
Who comes to gather daisies there.

For, when at morning I arise,
There's not a star left in the skies;
She picked them all and dropped them down
Into the meadows of the town.

A Robot Dog

By Clark Ness www.clarkness.com

One day Andrew and his dog Rocky went for a walk. They walked and walked. After a little bit, they walked past a big tree. Poof! Rocky was a robot dog. “Woof, woof,” barked Rocky the robot dog. “What is going on?” asked Andrew. “Who turned my dog into a robot dog?” Andrew looked all around him. He looked up the street. He looked down the street. He looked behind the tree. He looked up into the tree. No one was there. He stopped and stood still. “Hee, hee, hee,” he heard. It came from the tree. “Woof, woof,” barked Rocky the robot dog at the tree. Andrew looked at the tree. He could not see anything different about this tree. He could not think of what to do.

“Tree, are you a real tree?” asked Andrew. The tree did not say anything. Rocky the robot dog came over and smelled the tree. “Woof, woof,” he barked at it again. Andrew was mad. He did not like it that Rocky was a robot dog.

Andrew walked over to the tree and tickled it. "Stop that," said the tree. "Why did you tickle me?" "I think you turned my dog into a robot dog," said Andrew.

"Maybe I did, and maybe I didn't," said the tree who was holding his branches in front of himself so Andrew could not tickle him again. "It is kind of funny to see a dog become a robot." Andrew got real mad this time and went up to the tree. He pushed away the tree's branches and tickled him some more. "Oh, stop, stop," said the tree. "I don't want to be tickled anymore." "I still think you turned Rocky into a robot dog," said Andrew who was about to tickle the tree again. "Okay, okay," said the tree.

"I turned your dog into a robot dog. Just don't tickle me anymore." "Well, I don't think it is funny," said Andrew. "Now turn Rocky the robot dog back into Rocky the real dog." "Okay," said the tree. Poof! Rocky was Rocky the real dog again.

"Now don't do that anymore," said Andrew. "Someone might get mad and tickle you again. You would not like that." "Okay, I won't turn dogs into robot dogs anymore," said the tree. Andrew and Rocky walked home. The tree never turned any more dogs into robots, but every now and then, Andrew would see a robot butterfly go flying past his home.
